Evaluation of the courses, spring 2011

We received feedback from 24 students on the big common course on “Politics, Culture and Identity”, 25 on the DIR course on International Political Economy and 7 on the ES course on EU institutions and policies. This means that only a part of the students participate. Without exception the participating students crossed as overall characterization “good” or “acceptable”. Non were in the categories of “less than acceptable” or “non-acceptable”. Several students added verbal comments, some even in terms of “very good”, “Very useful”, “particularly exciting” and the like. There were also some critical comments such as “teacher x should use more examples”, “teacher y forwards too often his personal opinion”. But remarks such as these were rare. They will be forward to the teachers in question.

We did not receive feedbacks on the project supervision.
