Semester evaluations, Study Board for Cross-Cultural Studies (CCG and Tourism), Spring 2015.

7 Sept. 2015

Tourism-Copenhagen:

With a response rate that makes it impossible to generalise across the Tourism-Copenhagen student population, the number of respondents to this semester’s evaluation was 42, divided across 10th sem. (9) and 8th sem. (33). With 151 distributed evaluation forms, this makes for a response rate of only 28%.

41% of respondents report putting in more than 30 hours a week, studying, while 59% declare to have spent less than 30 hours a week. This includes a disturbing 45% spending 10-20 hours or less. This is significantly lower than the Spring 2014 semester figures. Considering that students are supposed to spend 37.5 hours per week studying, these figures must be of primary concern to the study board – even if, statistically, we cannot know for certain that these figures are representative of the entire student population.

Respondents generally feel well-informed about goals and purposes of the programme modules, as well as practical information about the programme, and find that the academic outcome of attending the programme has been ‘average’ (35%) ‘big’ (35%) or ‘very big’ (25%). The responding students are generally happy with the project writing process and project work.

74% declare that physical conditions are satisfactory or very satisfactory.
