European Multiculturalisms Cultural, Religious and Ethnic Challenges

Edited by Anna Triandafyllidou, Tariq Modood & Nasar Meer

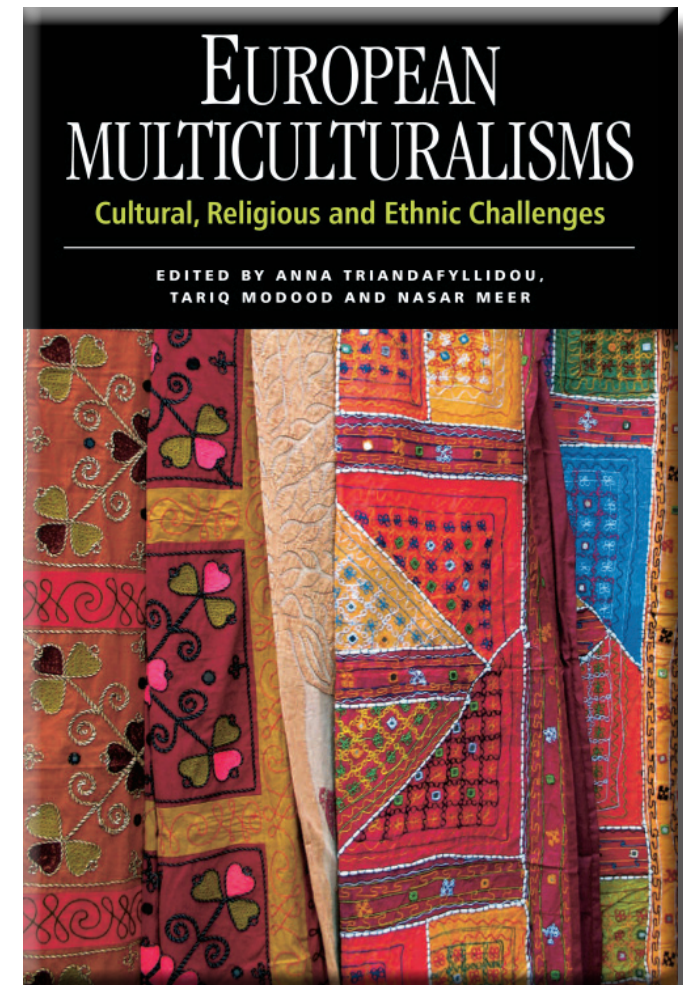

Explores the issue of migrants, Muslims, integration and citizenship in Europe

Focusing on 7 European countries – Belgium, Britain, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece and Spain – the contributors compare and contrast a host of debates and policies surrounding multicultural citizenship and diversity integration. Each chapter reviews several of these countries in relation to a specific theoretical question or issue: citizenship, diversity, civic recognition, gender, religious diversity & education, integration, anti-discrimination policies and social policy.

With a special focus on Muslim immigrants, the contributors look at the value issues entrenched in multiculturalism and the policy challenges and measures adopted to address them.

Key Features

- ▶ Charts the legal, political and educational challenges posed by migration-related religious, ethnic and cultural diversity in European countries
- ▶ Reflects on the challenges and the value systems involved
- ▶ Assesses the policy solutions adopted in different countries
- ▶ Compares different policy models and how they are implemented
- ▶ Discusses whether solutions are bound in their national contexts or relevant across Europe
