Journal Copyright Agreement

This agreement is made between the submitting author, hereinafter referred to as “the author”, and the Journal of China and International Relations, hereinafter referred to as “JCIR”.

This agreement concerns the manuscript entitled:

hereinafter referred to as “the contribution”.

Submitted by (the author):

1: Licence grant

For contributions in English and Chinese: The author grants to JCIR the rights to reproduce and publicly display the contribution electronically via the Open Access Journals system hosted and maintained by Aalborg University, Denmark.

For contributions in Chinese only: The author also grants to JCIR the rights to reproduce the contribution in print.

2: Warranties

The author warrants that the contribution is the author’s own original work, and that the contribution, in whole or in part, has not been published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. The author warrants that the contribution does not contain any defamatory or illegal statements and that only non-discriminatory language is used. The author warrants that the contribution does not violate the right of privacy of any person. The author warrants that all direct citations/quotations are properly cited with clear references. If images, figures and tables are reused in the contribution, the author warrants that they have been granted permission to reuse these by the rights holder.

3: Editorial changes

While it is the author's own responsibility to ensure a high level of English or Chinese (depending on the language of the contribution) and ensure that the contribution is prepared in accordance with the JCIR author guidelines, JCIR reserves the right to make editorial changes to the contribution insofar that this is deemed necessary to make it suitable for publication in JCIR.

4: Joint authorship

If the contribution has been prepared together with others, the corresponding author warrants that they are authorised by all co-authors to sign this agreement on their behalf, and that the order of names has been agreed by all authors.
